HIS MEMORY GONE.

Son of Nobleman Thought to Be in America.

San Francisco, Dec. 2.—Detectives here and elsewhere in America are searching for Lieut. Frederick Hesketh, son of Sir Thomas Hesketh, of London. He is believed to be wandering about this country suffering from amnesia, so that he does not know his own identity.

He was last seen leaving a small boat at Kingston pier, Ireland, soon after daylight on Sunday, October 30. He had no baggage as far as is known.

He is twenty-seven years old and a lieutenant in the Ninth Lancers. He has been suffering from loss of memory for some time. Lady Hesketh, his mother, was Miss Flora Sharon, daughter of Senator William Sharon, of Nevada.

KILLED IN DUEL WITH POLICE

Victim of Officer's Bullet Also a Slayer—Double Tragedy in Philadelphia Leads to Unusual Complications—Hyman Wiener in Ignorance of the Use of His Name.

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—"I am Hyman Wiener."

This was the startling statement made by Wiener himself just as his father, Leon Wiener, of Boston, with the dead body of the man he had identified as his son, was about to leave for the New England city. The dead man had been killed by a bullet from the police officer's gun, and the officer just before the latter lapsed into unconsciousness.

This sudden and unexpected turn in the case, following the murder of the policeman, puts the local police department again up in the air as to who the dead man really was. Wiener's father came from Boston and made positive identification of the dead murderer as his son.

Starts Off with Body.
The return to Boston, after having satisfied the local authorities that he was the dead man's father, was scheduled for to-night. The body had been placed on board the train, and the elder Wiener had taken his seat in the car when word was rushed to him that his son was alive.

The surprise was sprung after the arrest of Alexander McDonald, an auctioneer from Boston, who came to this city with Wiener a month ago, and was arrested to-day as an accessory before and after the fact of the murder of the policeman. McDonald viewed the body at the morgue and protested that it was not that of his friend, notwithstanding the positive identification of the elder Wiener. At the hearing McDonald was held in heavy bail, but he still stoutly declared that Wiener was not dead, and that he had seen him the day before. Then detectives got busy.

Like an Apparition.
This evening Hyman Wiener appeared at the office of the Cigar-makers' Union, where he was known. When he appeared the secretary and others who had seen Wiener before stared aghast. They could not believe that a dead man had come to life, and they were sure the body of the dead man had been identified by his father. In wonderment, they questioned the visitor.

"I am Hyman Wiener," the young man said, and when told it was believed he had been shot and killed and his body had lain in the morgue four days he was as much surprised as the others. He explained the story by saying that he had been working regularly and had had no time to read the newspapers.

"This is the first intimation I had of the whole affair," continued Wiener. "My mother is sick and I am afraid this thing will kill her. I want to clear it up so that she will not suffer from the thought that I have buried me and that I am a murderer."

Wiener senior started for Boston with the body, while the police were learning of the mistake.

JUSSERAND AT DINNER.

French Ambassador Is Guest at Lotus Club.

New York, Dec. 2.—His excellency, Jules Jusserand, Ambassador from France, nibbled at the Lotus Club hospitality and at full flavor Lotus Club to-night until of a sudden he found himself in danger of being beguiled of his birthright of nationality.

"When that wise old Ulysses was among you lotus eaters he found himself in a desperate position," said M. Jusserand. "He said that there was danger of staying too long among the lotus eaters, for in eating with them one forgets his native land. Here am I in danger for the night of forgetting."

COURT TO FREE PRISONER
IF PARTNERS ARE CLEARED

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Federal Judge Landis took occasion to-day to object to what he understood would be the attitude of the government in the case against Max Bronstein and Samuel Weiss, accused of being implicated with Simon Frindel in defrauding the government of $100,000 in internal revenue by the illicit operations of the Illinois Fruit Distilling Company.

Frindel had been found guilty by a jury after a trial in which Bronstein and Weiss testified against him. Then Judge Landis said that he understood that the cases against the two latter were to be compromised on a cash basis.

"If that is done, I will turn Frindel loose, too," he said.

He further took occasion to criticize the action of the government in bringing Weiss and Bronstein in as witnesses, declaring that the case would have been just as strong without them.

CHURCH ON WHEELS
STOPPED BY LAW

Moving Edifice Has 'Run-in' with County Officials.

Church and state collided in Alexandria yesterday, and the State won out, temporarily, at least. While other consequences may develop from the "run-in," one result stands out prominently—Alexandria has a full-grown church on rollers, and the little Second Baptist Church stood through the night. Beneath it were four big rollers, whose progress had been peremptorily stopped by the strong arm of the law when the edifice was being moved to a new site.

A short time ago, the congregation of the Second Baptist Church received notice that the church must be removed from the site at Columbus and Pendleton streets, else the building would pass into another's hands. It was decided to "move."

Permission was obtained from the city council for the removal of the building to a site some distance away, and several moving men were consulted. Yesterday they put the rollers under the building, put their shoulders to the rear of the church, and gave the edifice an auspicious start on its career toward a new home.

Just when the rollers were beginning to break through, up stepped the law, in the shape of inspectors, sheriffs, and a few other technicians. A lot of legal verbiage had the workmen guessing, until it was explained that the papers meant "Nix on the moving."

Property owners near what was to be the new site had objected to a "church in their midst," and the law did the rest. And there you are. Alexandria has a church on wheels—in fact, a church without a home, a wanderer on the face of Columbus street. Unless the church elders can get back those of legal papers in some way, there is good chance of the parishioners hearing the Word of God preached from a church a-wheel to-morrow.

MAY CANCEL COOK'S DEGREE.

Copenhagen, Dec. 2.—In consequence of Dr. Cook's confession that he may have made a mistake in his claim of having discovered the north pole, the council of the university here met to-day and discussed the question of the cancellation of the degree conferred by the university on Cook when he returned from the north.

It was decided to await an investigation to decide whether Cook is a swindler or the victim of a delusion before taking action.

Baltimore Pastor Robbed.

New York, Dec. 2.—A man who says he is Reek Cuyler, of Baltimore, staying at a hotel at 270 Third avenue, was assaulted and robbed in the 15th street subway station to-night. At the East 125th street police station he said that two men attacked him in the men's room on the downtown platform. They took his diamond ring, $5, and his watch.

Government Makes Roundup of Revolt Leaders.

JAN B. VACA AMONG PRISONERS

Noted Revolutionary Plotter, Who Planned Attacks in Parral, Now
Behind Bars, as Is Cardenas.
Another Important Suspect—Two Bandits Killed in Fierce Fight.

Mexico City, Dec. 2.—The government is rapidly rounding up the leaders and plotters of the revolutionary movement. In many towns the jails are overcrowded with the political prisoners.

One of the most important captured is Jan B. Vaca, who is alleged to have laid the plans for the attacks on Parral and other places in that region. He has been brought here and placed in prison. He is said to have been one of Madero's right-hand men, and to have laid plans for attacking towns all over the republic, but in person supervised the planning of the raid on Parral.

After the plans miscarried and the rebels were thoroughly whipped, Vaca fled southward through Durango up to the capital of the state of Jalisco, where he was captured by secret service men.

Rafael Quirao Cardenas, another important suspect, and J. Socorro Cervantes, a scarcely less valuable capture, have arrived under guard from Jiquilpan, Michoacan.

Cardenas is said to have been the leading anti-Re-electionist of the Michoacan town, and to have been tireless in his machinations against the existing government. He is alleged to have formulated plots and to have been on the point of carrying them out with the aid of a number of other malcontents when arrested. The attack on Jiquilpan apparently was frustrated by the capture of this man and of his companion Cervantes.

Charged with Rioting.
Cervantes himself is charged with being no small figure among the Madero supporters and plotters against Mexico. His work extended beyond paper, according to the charges, and he was actually involved in some of the rioting which has marked the past three weeks in various towns of the republic.

Rumors in conflict with four men and a boy, whom they surprised cutting telegraph wires in Colonia Aldana, near Atzacotalpote, killed the boy and arrested the men to try.

700 CLAIM ESTATE.
Widow of Amasa Sprague Brings Case Into Court.

Providence, R. I., Dec. 2.—The equity suit involving the right of dowry of Harriet B. Sprague, widow of Amasa Sprague, in real estate located in this city, Cranston, Warwick, and other towns, and now claimed by about 700 different owners, was argued before the Supreme Court to-day upon questions raised on demurrers filed by several respondents to Mrs. Sprague's bill of complaint. No decision was rendered.

The lower rights for which Mrs. Sprague sues are, she claims, vested in property which was transferred to a trustee for the benefit of the creditors at the time of the big Sprague failure in the '70's. Mrs. Sprague's claim is that she never signed the documents at the time her husband (now dead) turned over his property. Since that time the vast tracts of land have been sold and resold.

SCHOOLBOYS ON STRIKE.

Many Black Marks Go Against Pupils in New Jersey.

New York, Dec. 2.—An epidemic of strikes broke out to-day among schoolboys in three Hudson County (N. J.) municipalities, causing many black marks for the absence and tardiness in public schools, 21 in Jersey City, 7 in Hoboken, and 7 in North Bergen, and much anxiety among the principals and teachers in the strike zone.

It is believed that the boys were infected by left-over germs from the expressmen's recent strike.

New Legislators Not Solidly Back of Delaware Senator.

Dover, Del., Dec. 2.—Senator Du Pont is believed to have the backing of the Republican organization throughout the State, but several of the new legislators, it is reported, will not consult the organization, but will act on their own judgment.

Alfred I. Du Pont, of Wilmington, a man of ability and wealth, having, it is said, an income of $500,000, is reported here as willing to run against Senator Henry Du Pont, and some Republicans are prophesying that the legislative session will open here with the liveliest Senatorial contest since the early days of Addicks in Delaware.

LODGE NOT WORRIED.

Suggestion of "Foss" Brings Only a Smile.

New York, Dec. 2.—United States Senator Henry C. Lodge, of Massachusetts, paused while at the Belmont to-day on his way to Washington and was observed to be wearing a cheerful smile as he crossed the lobby.

"Foss" said somebody at the Senator in a sort of booing way. It did not seem to faze him in the slightest.

"You look very cheerful for a statesman who is about to be stripped of his seat and his reputation," remarked an acquaintance.

"Well," replied the Senator, "I am about as happy as a good man can be struggling with adversity."

Fourteen Thousand Sealskins to Be Sold in London.

The United States government will place on sale in London in about two weeks 14,000 raw skins taken from male seals killed several months ago on the Pribilof Islands, off the coast of Alaska, by order of the Department of Commerce and Labor as a means of conserving the Pribilof herds.

Commissioner of Fisheries George W. Bowers left Washington yesterday for London as the government's representative at the sale, which is to take place at the establishment of a well-known London furrier.

The sale of these skins abroad follows the conclusion reached by the department that they could not be properly treated or cured in this country. It is expected that $500,000 or more will be realized.

AERO DROPS 60 FEET.

Augustus Post Hurt in Mishap at New Orleans Meet.

New Orleans, Dec. 2.—Augustus Post, one of the aviators in the meet here, was seriously injured when his machine was caught in a heavy gust of wind late this afternoon and swept to earth sixty feet below. He sustained bruises about the face and body, and was knocked unconscious. He was rushed to his hotel in an automobile and is under the care of a physician.

There was great excitement among the 6,000 spectators when Post fell, and 2,000 of them dashed on the field and thronged around the wrecked plane.

M'CREA IS SILENT.

Says Visit to Taft Does Not Interest
the Public.

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—James M'Crea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who was reported to have visited President Taft at Washington in an effort to have Chief Justice Gummere, of New Jersey, appointed to the supreme Court, denied to-day that he had discussed with the President any subject relating to the politics of New Jersey, and asserted that his interview with Mr. Taft was of a purely personal nature, in which the public was not interested.

Mr. M'Crea, in a stenographic reply, through the medium of his private secretary, said:

"I have no more to say about my visit to Washington than I have said to the reporters in that city. My visit was entirely a personal one, and nothing transpired in which the public was interested."

HORSE WRECKS AUTO.

Richmond Mayor Has Narrow Escape from Injury.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Richmond, Va., Dec. 2.—Mayor C. M. Exum, of Birmingham, Ala.; Mayor D. C. Richardson, of Richmond; H. C. Rogers, president of the Birmingham board of aldermen, and Superintendent Streets Henry Coll of Richmond, had a narrow escape from injury to-day when the automobile in which they were riding was smashed into by a delivery wagon. The horse, climbing clear to the top of the hood, totally wrecked the machine and badly cut the wrist of Chauffeur J. W. Jackson.

The negro driver, Harrison Mercer, was immediately arrested. Eyewitnesses state that he did nothing to avert the accident.

CUPID HAS BUSY YEAR.

Number of Marriages in New York in Eleven Months Was 31,565.

New York, Dec. 2.—Whatever else it has done the high cost of living has not prevented 63,130 men and women in New York County from getting married in the eleven months of 1910, as shown by the records of the marriage license bureau, made public to-day.

From January 1 to November 30, 31,565 licenses were issued. This number was within 22 of the total for the entire 12 months of 1909. Based on the number of licenses issued in December of last year, at the end of this month approximately 34,000 permits will have been taken out, an increase of nearly 3,000 over the preceding year.

As each license issued brings $1 to the city treasury, $31,565 has thus far been taken in 1910 over the marriage license counter. The salaries of the clerks in the bureau amount to $14,350 a year, so that the bureau pays for itself more than twice over.

Bank Clerk Held for Larceny.

New York, Dec. 2.—Cornwall A. Arnold, a 25-year-old clerk in the Corn Exchange Bank, who lives with his mother and two sisters in an apartment house at 54 West 123d street, was arrested this afternoon, charged with having stolen $154 in cash from his bank about two weeks ago.

ELECTION TO-DAY TO DECIDE HOUSE

Results of Seventy Districts
Will Be Index.

UNIONISTS SEE GAINS

Predict a Landslide if They Are Successful.

Polls in Widely Scattered Parts of United Kingdom Will Serve to Show How General Result Will Figure—Election Begins with Unopposed Re-election of Eleven Unionists and Four Radicals.

London, Dec. 2.—Seventy polls to-morrow in widely scattered parts of the United Kingdom should give a fair index of how the election begun yesterday will result. Unionists are optimistic and some of the prophets see an anti-government landslide.

In practically all of the districts which will elect members to the new House of Commons to-morrow there were unusually close fights last year. This gives the Unionists considerable hope, as they think a victory to-day is all that is needed to precipitate a landslide in their favor.

With the return of eleven Unionists and four Radicals to-day, the nucleus of the new house was formed. All of the nominations were unopposed, and consequently the return of these members is assured.

Balfour Elected Again.

The Unionists elected to-day included Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, the opposition leader, and Joseph Chamberlain, leader, and prime minister for 1908-9, Birmingham since 1905. The four Liberals included Arthur A. Haworth, who owed his unopposed return from South Manchester to the fact that his Unionist opponent was disqualified because, through a mistake, he arrived at the nomination station six minutes late.

These elections began in inclement weather. It was cold and dreary. Despite this and the fact that candidates were unopposed, there was a great deal of excitement.

Surrounded by a special guard of detectives to protect him from the suffragettes, Home Secretary Winston Churchill went to Cheshire to-day to deliver two speeches. He replied to utterances of former Premier A. J. Balfour, declaring that Mr. Balfour's sudden change of attitude, wherein he asserted that he was willing to allow the constitutional questions to go before the people, showed insincerity.

A special train waited at Cheshire to carry the home secretary to Grimsby, where Mr. Balfour will also speak this evening. The campaign is gradually becoming more bitter and promises at its climax to eclipse anything ever seen in English politics.

Among the candidates returned unopposed were two Liberals. Nineteen Unionists in all were returned without opposition.

Forecasters Reduced Majority.
There has been a steady decline in the stock exchange price of coalition stock since the opening of the electoral campaign. Starting at 120 as the probable majority for the coalition of parties, the figure gradually has dropped until it now ranges in the neighborhood of 60. If the brokers are well inspired the chances that the present struggle will settle the great constitutional questions now before the country seem remote.

Should Premier Asquith and his Nationalist and Laborite allies be returned to power with anything like so reduced a majority as here indicated it is freely predicted that the premier will resign. In that case A. J. Balfour, the opposition leader, and prime minister for 1908-9, presumably would be invited by King George to form a new cabinet, and everything would be again thrown into the melting pot, as the only course open to Balfour would be another appeal to the country.

Money to Buy Arms.

The emergency committee of the Ulster Unionists councils, which was appointed November 23 to organize Ulster men into regiments to oppose the establishment of an Irish home rule parliament in Dublin, met in Belfast to-day and decided to invite tenders for supplying arms and ammunition.

At the meeting at which the committee was appointed the sum of $50,000 was subscribed for the purpose of buying arms for the regiments the committee was authorized to organize.

In a speech at Walsall to-day John Redmond, the Irish leader, said the Irish party was willing and anxious that the principle of home rule be admitted to a referendum of the British people.

PLAYWRIGHT COMMITS

ARSON TO GET REALISM

Vienna, Dec. 2.—Friedrich Schickel, the playwright and poet, surrendered to the police of Prague to-day, confessing that he was guilty of arson. He said that while rehearsing one of his plays in which a peasant sets fire to a barn he failed to make the scene realistic. He decided that he must himself experience a criminal impression. He, therefore, went into the country and set fire to a barn, taking notes of the incident and his own feelings. These he incorporated into his play, which is now running in Bohemia with great success.
